No. Cion doc.:	COM(2021) 429 final
Subject:	Proposal for a DIRECTIVE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL amending Directive (EU) 2019/1153 of the European Parliament and of the Council, as regards access of competent authorities to centralised bank account registries through the single access point – Presidency debriefing on the outcome of the trilogue

Introduction

1. The Proposal for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Directive (EU) 2019/1153 of the European Parliament and of the Council, as regards access of competent authorities to centralised bank account registries through the single access point, was presented by the Commission on 20 July 2021. The proposal is based on Article 87(2) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and is subject to the ordinary legislative procedure.
2. The objective of the proposal is to extend access to the bank account registers (BAR) single access point, as introduced by the new anti-money laundering directive proposed at the same time as the proposal to amend Directive (EU) 2019/1153, to the authorities competent for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences that are designated as competent authorities pursuant to Article 3(1) of Directive (EU) 2019/1153.

3. The Presidency initiated the examination of the proposal at the meeting of the Law Enforcement Working Party – Police (LEWP-P) on 10 January 2023. The text examined during that meeting contained not only the provisions of the Commission proposal, but also a Presidency suggestion regarding the harmonisation of bank statement formats in situations where competent authorities receive information on transaction records for the purposes of prevention, detection and investigation of serious criminal offences, for instance as a follow-up to a search through the BAR single access point.
4. The proposal was further examined during LEWP-P meetings on 16 February and 21 March 2023. On 29 March 2023, Coreper adopted a mandate for negotiations with the European Parliament.
5. The European Parliament (EP) appointed Mr Emil RADEV (EPP, BG) as rapporteur. On 12 January 2023, Mr RADEV presented his draft report to the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs (LIBE) of the EP, which adopted the Report and decided to open interinstitutional negotiations, which was confirmed by the EP's plenary on 13 February 2023.
6. On that basis, a first trilogue with the representatives of the European Parliament and the Commission took place on 3 May 2023. It was followed by four technical meetings on 5, 12, 22 and 31 May 2023.
7. On 6 June 2023, during the second trilogue, the co-legislators reached a political agreement on the text of the Directive, coming to the conclusion that the text is stable and none of its provisions require further discussions at political level.

Main parameters of the agreed text

8. During the interinstitutional negotiations, the co-legislators agreed not only on the initial proposal of the Commission to grant law enforcement authorities the access to the BAR single access point, but also on a series of other issues:

9. Further guarantees in the area of purpose limitation, data protection or qualifications of relevant staff of competent authorities were added upon request of the European Parliament, which in turn accepted the additions made by the Council, consisting in the above mentioned harmonisation of the format of transaction records. The co-legislators agreed that the harmonised format would be set out in an implementing act of the Commission, as suggested by the Council.

Conclusion

10. While all the political elements arising in the context of the file have now been agreed, it was also clarified during the second trilogue that the legal-linguistic revision and the formal adoption of the Directive should only take place once certain related legislative instruments are also finalised at political level, in order to ensure appropriate coordination and legal certainty.
11. This is due to the fact that the present Directive contains references to definitions which will be set out in the Transfer of Funds Regulation<sup>1</sup> and the new Anti-Money-Laundering Directive<sup>2</sup>, as well as a reference to a provision in the proposed Regulation establishing the AML Authority<sup>3</sup>, which were all proposed at the same time and are still under negotiation.
12. Consequently, Coreper is invited to approve the outcomes of the negotiations on the Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Directive (EU) 2019/1153, as set out in the Annex to this note, on the understanding that the same text will be submitted to Coreper for the usual confirmation of the final compromise text with a view to agreement at a later stage, so that the Presidency could proceed with notifying the European Parliament of the agreement once the related instruments are also finalized.

- (1) Optimising and facilitating access to financial information is necessary to prevent, detect, investigate or prosecute serious crime, including terrorism. In particular, swift access to financial information is essential for carrying out effective criminal investigations and for successfully tracing and subsequently confiscating instrumentalities and proceeds of crime, in particular as part of investigations into organised crime and cybercrime.
- (2) Directive (EU) 2019/1153 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>63</sup> enables authorities competent for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences designated by Member States to access and search, subject to certain safeguards and limitations, bank account information. Directive (EU) 2019/1153 defines bank account information as certain information contained in the centralised automated mechanisms that Member States set up pursuant to Directive (EU) 2015/849 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>74</sup>, referred to in Directive (EU) 2019/1153 as centralised bank account registries.
- (3) The authorities designated under Directive (EU) 2019/1153 include at least the Asset Recovery Offices and can also include tax authorities and anti-corruption agencies to the extent that they are competent for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences under national law. Pursuant to that Directive, the competent authorities are empowered to directly access and search only the centralised bank account registries of the Member State that designated those authorities.

<sup>63</sup> Directive (EU) 2019/1153 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 June 2019 laying down rules facilitating the use of financial and other information for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of certain criminal offences, and repealing Council Decision 2000/642/JHA (OJ L186 of 11.7.2019, p. 122).

<sup>74</sup> Directive (EU) 2015/849 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 May 2015 on the prevention of the use of the financial system for the purposes of money laundering or terrorist financing, amending Regulation (EU) 648/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council, and repealing Directive 2005/60/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council and Commission Directive 2006/70/EC (OJ L 141, 5.6.2015, p. 73).

- (4) Directive (EU) YYYY/XX of the European Parliament and of the Council,<sup>85</sup> , which replaces Directive 2015/849 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>96</sup>, and retains the key features of the system established by that Directive, provides, in addition, that the centralised automated mechanisms are interconnected via the bank account registers (BAR) single access point, to be developed and operated by the Commission. However, under Directive (EU) YYYY/XX only FIUs continue to have direct access to the centralised automated mechanisms, including through the BAR single access point.
- (5) Considering the cross-border nature of organised crime, the financing of terrorism, and money laundering, as well as the importance of relevant financial information for the purposes of combating serious criminal activities/offences, including by swiftly tracing, freezing and confiscating illegally obtained assets where possible and appropriate, authorities competent for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences designated in accordance with Directive (EU) 2019/1153 should be able to directly access and search the centralised bank account registries of other Member States through the BAR single access point put in place pursuant to Directive (EU) YYYY/XX.
- (6) The safeguards and limitations already established by Directive (EU) 2019/1153 should also apply in respect of the possibilities to access and search bank account information, through the BAR single access point, established by the present Directive. These safeguards and limitations include those concerning the limitation to the authorities that have the power to access and search bank account information, the purposes for which the access and search may be conducted, the types of information that are accessible and searchable while respecting the principle of data minimisation, requirements applicable to the staff of the designated competent authorities, the security of the data and the logging of access and searches.

<sup>96</sup> Directive (EU) 2015/849 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 20 May 2015 on the prevention of the use of the financial system for the purposes of money laundering or terrorist financing, amending Regulation (EU) 648/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council, and repealing Directive 2005/60/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council and Commission Directive 2006/70/EC (OJ L 141, 5.6.2015, p. 73).

- (6a) Bank statements containing records of financial transactions and transfers (transaction records) carried out through a bank account provide crucial information for criminal investigations. However, financial investigations are hampered by the fact that the financial and credit institutions provide authorities competent for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences ("competent authorities") with transaction records in different formats, which are not immediately ready for analysis. Considering the cross-border nature of most investigations into serious criminal offences, the disparity of formats and difficulties of processing transaction records hamper the exchange of information among competent authorities between Member States and the development of cross-border financial investigations. In order to improve the capacity of competent authorities to carry out financial investigations, this Directive sets out measures to ensure that financial and credit institutions across the Union, including crypto-asset service providers, provide transaction records in a format that is easy to process and analyse by competent authorities.
- (6b) The conditions and procedures under which competent authorities can request transaction records from financial and credit institutions are governed by procedural rules established in national law. The harmonisation of the technical modalities for the provision of transaction records by the financial sector upon request from competent authorities should not affect the national procedural rules and safeguards under which these authorities can request such information.
- (6c) In order to ensure uniform conditions for the provision of transaction records by financial and credit institutions to competent authorities, implementing powers should be conferred on the Commission. Those powers should be exercised in accordance with Regulation (EU) No 182/2011 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>107</sup>

- (6d) Access by competent authorities to bank account information across borders through the BAR single access point is based on the mutual trust among Member States derived from their respect of fundamental rights and of the principles recognised by Article 6 TEU and by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, such as the right to respect for one's private and family life, the right to the protection of personal data and procedural rights, including the right to an effective remedy and to a fair trial, the presumption of innocence and the right of defence and the principles of the legality and proportionality of criminal offences and penalties, as well as the fundamental rights and principles provided for in international law and international agreements to which the Union or all the Member States are party, including the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, and in Member States' constitutions, in their respective fields of application.
- (6e) When implementing this Directive, Member States should consider the nature, organisational status, role and prerogatives of the authorities and bodies established under national law as responsible for preventing, detecting, investigating or prosecuting criminal offences, including the existing mechanisms to protect financial systems from money laundering and terrorist financing.

- (7) Any processing of personal data by the competent authorities in connection with the access and search possibilities established by this Directive is subject to Directive (EU) 2016/680 of the European Parliament and of the Council<sup>118</sup>. ~~Therefore, which lays down the rules relating to the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data by competent authorities for the purposes of the prevention, investigation, detection or prosecution of criminal offences or the execution of criminal penalties, in line with a set of principles relating to the processing of personal data, in particular lawfulness, fairness and transparency, purpose limitation, data minimisation, accuracy, storage limitation, integrity and confidentiality, and accountability.~~ This Directive respects the fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised by Article 6 of the Treaty on European Union and by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, in particular the right to respect for one's private and family life and the right to the protection of personal data.
- (8) Given that the objective of this Directive, namely to empower designated authorities competent for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of criminal offences to access and search the centralised bank account registries of other Member States through the BAR single access point established by Directive (EU) YYYY/XX , cannot be sufficiently achieved by Member States, but can be better achieved at Union level, the Union may adopt measures in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty on European Union. In accordance with the principle of proportionality as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve this objective.

- (9) ~~{In accordance with Article 3 of Protocol No 21 on the position of the United Kingdom and Ireland in respect of the area of freedom, security and justice, annexed to the Treaty on European Union and to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, Ireland has notified its wish to take part in the adoption and application of this Directive.}~~

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

Article 1

Article 1 of Directive (EU) 2019/1153 is amended as follows:

1. Paragraph 1 is amended as follows:

1. This Directive lays down measures to facilitate access to and the use of financial information and bank account information by competent authorities for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of serious criminal offences. It also lays down measures to facilitate access to law enforcement information by Financial Intelligence Units ('FIUs') for the prevention and combating of money laundering, associate predicate offences and terrorist financing and measures to facilitate cooperation between FIUs. Furthermore, it lays down technical measures to facilitate the use of transaction records by competent authorities for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of serious criminal offences.

2. In paragraph 2, the following point is added:

(e) procedures under national law under which authorities responsible for the prevention, detection, investigation or prosecution of serious criminal offences can require financial and credit institutions to provide transaction records, including the time-limits for transmitting such information.

Article 2

[definition of "bank account information" in Article 2(7) to be aligned with the relevant provision in the new AMLD (2021/0250 (COD)) at the moment of formal adoption]

In article 2 of Directive (EU) 2019/1153, the following points (7a), (7b) and (7c) are inserted after point (7):

- (7a) ‘transaction records’ means the details of operations which have been carried out during a defined period through a specified payment account, a bank account identified by IBAN, as defined by Regulation (EU) No 260/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council, or the details of transfers of crypto-assets, as defined by [Regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council on information accompanying transfers of funds and certain crypto-assets (recast) – 2021/0241 (COD)]*
- (7b) "financial and credit institutions" means financial and credit institutions as defined in [reference to the relevant provision in the new AMLD (2021/0250 (COD)), to be added at the moment of formal adoption]*
- (7c) "crypto-asset service provider" means crypto-asset service provider as defined in Article 3(1), point (15), of [the MiCA Regulation (2020/0265 (COD)), to be added at the moment of formal adoption]*

Article 3

In Article 4 of Directive (EU) 2019/1153, the following paragraph is inserted:

- “1a. Member States shall ensure that the competent national authorities designated pursuant to Article 3(1) have the power to access and search, directly and immediately, bank account information in other Member States available through the bank account registers (BAR) single access point put in place pursuant to Article XX of Directive (EU) YYYY/XX [the new Anti-Money Laundering Directive] ~~when~~where necessary for the performance of their tasks for the purposes of preventing, detecting, investigating or prosecuting a serious criminal offence or supporting a criminal investigation concerning a serious criminal offence, including the identification, tracing and freezing of the assets related to such investigation.

Member States may limit the power to access and search bank account information through the bank account registers (BAR) single access point to situations where competent authorities have justified reasons to believe that there might be relevant bank account information in other Member States.

Without prejudice to Article 4(2) of Directive (EU) 2016/680, information obtained by means of accessing and searching the BAR single access point shall be processed only for the purpose for which it was collected.

Access and searches pursuant to this Article shall be without prejudice to national procedural safeguards and Union and national rules on the protection of personal data.

The second sentence of paragraph 1 of this Article applies mutatis mutandis.”

New paragraph in Article 12

Each Member State shall ensure that FIUs are able to invite Europol where relevant for supporting them when carrying out the joint analysis referred to in Article 25 AMLD and Article 33 AMLAR, subject to the agreement of all participating FIUs, within the limits of Europol’s mandate and for the performance of the tasks laid down in Article 4(1) letters (h) and (z) of Regulation 2016/0794 recast, and without prejudice to the competences of AMLA, as set out in AMLAR.

Article 4

The title of CHAPTER II of Directive (EU) 2019/1153 is amended as follows:

ACCESS BY COMPETENT AUTHORITIES TO BANK ACCOUNT INFORMATION, AND THE FORMAT OF TRANSACTION RECORDS

(2) In Article 5 of Directive (EU) 2019/1153, paragraphs 1 and 3 shall read as follows:

1. Access to and searches of bank account information in accordance with Article 4, including through the BAR single access point, shall be performed only on a case-by-case basis by the staff of each competent authority that have been specifically designated and authorised to perform those tasks.

3. Member States shall ensure that technical and organisational measures are in place to ensure the security of the data to high technological standards for the purposes of the exercise by competent authorities of the power to access and search bank account information, including through the BAR single access point, in accordance with Article 4.

(3) In Article 6 of Directive (EU) 2019/1153, the first sentence of paragraph 1 shall read as follows:

1. Member States shall provide that the authorities operating the centralised bank account registries ensure that logs are kept each time designated competent authorities access and search bank account information, including through the BAR single access point.

The following Articles 6a and 6b are inserted after article 6 of Directive (EU) 2019/1153:

"Article 6a

Transaction records

Member States shall ensure that financial and credit institutions, including crypto-asset service providers, comply with the technical specifications established in accordance with article 6b when replying, in accordance with national legislation, to requests for transaction records issued by competent authorities within a criminal investigation, including the identification, tracing and freezing of the assets related to such investigation.

Article 6b

The Commission is empowered to adopt, by means of implementing acts, technical specifications in order to establish the electronic structured format and technical transmission means to be used for financial and credit institutions to provide transaction records to competent authorities in their Member State, in accordance with national procedural rules.

When adopting the implementing act, the Commission will consider the development of relevant financial services messaging standards as well as technological developments to ensure the secure transmission of transaction records, including technical measures to ensure the security of the data.

Those implementing acts shall be adopted in accordance with the examination procedure referred to in Article X."

The following Article X<sup>1310</sup> is inserted:

"Article X

Committee procedure

The Commission shall be assisted by a committee. That committee shall be a committee within the meaning of Regulation (EU) No 182/2011."

Article 25

1. Member States shall bring into force the laws, regulations and administrative provisions necessary to comply with this Directive by [XXYY] [transposition period to be aligned with the application date set by the new Anti-Money Laundering Directive for the application of the provisions for interconnecting the centralised automated mechanism] at the latest. They shall forthwith communicate to the Commission the text of those provisions.

When Member States adopt those provisions, they shall contain a reference to this Directive or be accompanied by such a reference on the occasion of their official publication. Member States shall determine how such reference is to be made.

2. Member States shall communicate to the Commission the text of the main provisions of national law which they adopt in the field covered by this Directive.

Article 36

This Directive shall enter into force on the twentieth day following that of its publication in the Official Journal of the European Union.

Article 47

This Directive is addressed to the Member States in accordance with the Treaties.
